

My Wife Thinks You're Dead

Junior Brown

G

It's good to see you baby it's been a long long while
We're both a whole lot older and seen a lot of miles

C

But things are really different now since the good ol days

G

And you've been in some trouble since we went our separate ways

D

C

We'll have to say hello maybe some other time instead

G

Cause you're wanted by the police

D

G

And my wife thinks you're dead

G

Somebody spread the rumor that you had lost your life?

Least that's the way I heard it and what I told my wife

C

Now here you're showing up again and talk is gettin round

G

And I can see that one of us will have to leave this town

D

C

If you think that I want trouble then you're crazy in the head

G

Cause you're wanted by the police

D

G

And my wife thinks you're dead

G

You never called or wrote me just up and disappeared
Nobody knew what happened, where you been for all these years?

C

Now trouble's what you're lookin like cause trouble's where you been

G

And I can see the kind of trouble you could get me in

C

You better pay attention to every word I said

G

Cause you're wanted by the police

D

G

And my wife thinks you're dead

(Instrumental using chorus tabs – G, C, G, D - C, G, D - G)

G

So goodbye to you baby I'm glad we got to talk

But I'm faithful to my wife and I don't ever break the law

C

I don't know where you're headed for but I know where you been

G

We've reminisced now let's just go our separate ways again

D

C

Go find another ex-sweetheart to hang around instead

G

Cause you're wanted by the police

D

G

And my wife thinks you're dead

G

D

G

D G

I say, you're wanted by the police, and my wife thinks you're dead
